GRAIN ELEVATOR ALMOST ASSURED

Mr. A. E. Warren, General Manager of Western National Lines, Delights Chamber Directors With News

RAILWAY IS READY TO BEGIN PROJECT

Lumber Assembly Plant Also Figures in Road's Plans—Confident Scheme Is Business Proposition

VICTORIA'S grain elevator at Ogden Point was practically assured, Mr. A. E. Warren, general manager of Canadian National Railway, announced yesterday at a luncheon given in his honor by the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

"I feel there is not a doubt of it coming to Victoria," said Mr. Warren. The Western manager added that the lumber assembly plant, that had been discussed from time to time, formed a part of the proposition as far as he was concerned, and would be included in the general scheme of development in view.

Mr. Warren said he would be visiting Montreal shortly to take up with the head office the whole scheme. It might be necessary to have an order-in-council passed at Ottawa, but the assurance had been given that this would be done. Little delay at the government at Ottawa was ready to concede to the request.

Businessmen Delighted
It was an exceedingly pleased group of directors of the Chamber of Commerce that listened to the announcement made by Mr. Warren. Praise was given the railway company, Mr. Henry Thomson, the president of the line, and Mr. Warren himself, particularly for the intense interest he had shown in this undertaking.

Mr. Warren was able to announce that he had just a few hours before received a message from Montreal in which the information was conveyed to him that the development of the elevator scheme was satisfactory to the railway and that they were ready to proceed with the whole scheme. It should be found necessary to have an order-in-council passed this would be moved for, without any delay.

In the frank manner characteristic of the Western manager of the C.N.R. lines, Mr. Warren pointed out that the scheme was a business proposition.

MONTREAL CHIEF GIVES EVIDENCE

NAMES TWO ALDERMEN WHO STOPPED PROSECUTIONS

Witness Tells of Confessed Exploits of Belanger's Nephew When Working on Narcotic Squad

MONTREAL, Nov. 11.—Chief of Police Pierre Belanger today named two members of the executive committee, Aldermen Thomas O'Connor and Desroches, as having intervened to prevent cases being made against Montreal coal dealers for short weight. The chief, who is investigating the affairs of the local police force. Further in his testimony Chief Belanger denied that he had gone to the Dempsey-Firpo fight in Tony Frank's car, or that he had been aided in any way by the executed murderer. He said that at the morning session of W. C. Radley, of Toronto, told of his acquaintance and friendship with Constable Belanger, a nephew of this chief, whom he had met more than seven years ago. The friendship ripened and Belanger was a frequent caller. The attraction, the witness told the court, was his fifteen-year-old daughter, though at the time he did not suspect this.

Joined Narcotic Squad
Continuing, Chief Belanger said that Belanger had finally joined the narcotic squad and that he often brought bottles and packages of cocaine with him on his visits, explaining that he "could get $50 for this and so much for that."

Belanger, according to witness, told him about "framing" cases, how the police would slip a package of cocaine into the pocket of an arrested man who, when searched at headquarters, would naturally be found to be "in possession of drugs." The prisoner would get a fine of $200 and costs, and Belanger, said Hatley, would get 25 per cent of this fine to split with his co-workers on the police force. Witness said that Belanger had told him he got the drugs from Chinese resorts and that when a raid was made, instead of turning all the confiscated "dope" over to the authorities, part was retained, and that this part was soon in circulation throughout the underworld.

Constable Belanger, according to Hatley, had once told him that so long as his uncle, Pierre Belanger, was chief of police, "he did not have to care a rap."

EDMONTON, Nov. 11.—Charges of a conspiracy between Alberta coal operators and Winnipeg coal dealers, to keep up the price of Alberta coal to the consumers of Winnipeg, are to be looked into by Provincial Trade Commissioner Howard Stanchbury, who leaves for Winnipeg tonight and will attend the inquiry now being held at that point by the Federal Fuel Commission.

CEMETERY GHOST PROVED TO BE ONLY HIGH RENT DODGER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Persistent reports that the historic old Spanish cemetery here was visited nightly by a ghost or ghoul led to police investigation, which ended last night in the arrest of Manuel Blanco, fifty-six, who is alleged to have been avoiding high rents by using an empty tomb for a sleeping chamber. "I have been sleeping there for a month and no one has disturbed me until now," he was quoted as saying as they booked him at the city jail on a vagrancy charge.

TO ENCOURAGE TAX PAYMENTS

CITY COUNCIL SEEKS POWER TO OFFER DISCOUNTS

Will Ask for Legislation to Offer Incentives Under Ten and Fifteen-Year Payment Plans

Legislation will be sought by the city empowering it to offer discounts to encourage the payment of consolidated tax arrears under the fifteen-year plan, according to a decision reached by the City Council last night. The City Solicitor was instructed to take the necessary steps to obtain legislation permitting the city to allow a flat rate of discount (five per cent) on the unpaid balance of capital and graduated scale of payment plan; and graduated scale of discounts on the payment of a part or the whole of the principal sum owing under the fifteen-year payment plan. The proposed legislation would not apply to any indebtedness under sales of reversioned lands.

The initial discount suggested for this year under the fifteen-year payment plan is ten per cent. After 1924, the discount would decrease by one per cent each year until 1930. From 1930 to 1934, a four per cent discount would be given.

The legislation would not apply to sales at the present time.

CABINET TO NAME B.C. HOUSE HEAD

NO IMMEDIATE APPOINTMENT, SAYS HON. J. D. MACLEAN

Possible Successors of Late F. C. Wade, K.C., Mentioned, Including Citizens of Victoria

The Provincial Government will appoint a successor to the late F. C. Wade, K.C., as Agent-General for British Columbia in London, but no decision is likely to be made in the immediate future, The Colonist was informed last night by Hon. J. D. MacLean, whose department has jurisdiction over the maintenance of B.C. House.

If it is taken for granted at the Parliament Buildings that the post will be continued, although there are rumors that Premier Oliver is not a very enthusiastic believer in the value of the service, and that the present wave of economy might move him to advise its discontinuance.

Those familiar with the operation of the Agent-General's department, insist that it is important that the new appointee should be in office by the beginning of the new year, as the first two months of the year are invariably the busiest. In the meantime, Mr. W. A. McAdam, formerly of Victoria, is in charge of the office.

Mr. Hart Mentioned
Among the names most prominently mentioned is that of John Hart, former Minister of Finance. Sponsors declare that Mr. Hart has unique qualifications for the position by virtue of his commanding knowledge of business and financial affairs and his intimate acquaintance with conditions throughout the Province, in addition to his particular fitness to meet all the social requirements.

Others mentioned include Mr. Nicol Thompson, Vancouver mining man; F. H. Russell, K.C., of the Victoria Times; J. N. Ellis, K.C., P. R. Condon, K.C., Dr. K. C. MacDonald, recently defeated in North Okanagan as Provincial Secretary; H. C. Nicholson, editor of The Victoria Times; J. B. Thomson, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade; Kenneth Campbell, former M.L.A. for Nelson; and Mr. Thomas Walker, of Victoria, who managed the affairs of B.C. House in 1920, during Mr. Wade's visit to Canada. The post of agent-general carries a yearly salary of $8,000.

Gas Wells Hiccough Torch

OKANAGAN ASKS FOR NEW GRANT

Conservative Member Explains Government Election Methods in Recent By-Election Campaign

IRRIGATION LOANS INTEREST OBJECTED

Believes Fruit Growing Industry as Much Entitled to Public Funds as P.G.E. or Trunk Highways

"To start with, I want to present my thanks to Dr. K. C. MacDonald, late Provincial Secretary, for his seat in the British Columbia Legislature," said Mr. Arthur O. Cochrane, Conservative member for North Okanagan, when he rose yesterday to speak in the debate in reply to the speech from the Throne. "My thanks are lodged in quarters where they are due most."

He objected vigorously to some of the tactics employed by Government supporters in their attempt to win the election for the late Provincial Secretary. First, he wanted to know the intentions of the Government in respect to what was termed during the contest, "the local anaesthetic." In other words, he wanted to know the Government's attitude toward promises made the irrigation men of Vernon district, of monetary assistance. He charged his opponent with having said in Vernon that the Government was prepared to contribute the sum of $43,000 towards the Vernon district irrigation scheme.

That assertion was taken as a definite promise," Mr. Cochrane said. "A Liberal promise." The speaker believed that was as good as any explanation he could think of. The promise had been made, he asserted; yet when the Vernon irrigation men had come to Victoria and asked the Government to fulfill its promise, it had been told that there was no appropriation for $43,000. "I want to tell you that decent, thinking people in this Province are not going to stand for that sort of thing much longer."

More Government Tactics
Mr. Cochrane referred at some length to the Government system of importing voters into an election. North Okanagan had not been blessed (or cursed) with the famous "fruit-growing industry" but in its place had been imposed another evil. Eighty outside voters had been brought into the riding on election day, forty-two of them from Vancouver, and the balance from Trail, Rossland, Calgary, and as far east as Regina. Among the crowd that had been brought in, the speaker said, was a man who had been in the military service of the Government, he declared.

Mr. Cochrane charged the Government with failure to give proper and deserved aid to the farmers of North Okanagan.

Hon. Mr. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, wanted to know what the member for North Okanagan expected. "I believe it is right and just that the Government should grant money to the irrigation men, and that under the present system, loan it for term of years at interest. The fruit-growing industry of British Columbia is an industry of great importance to this Province than the famous 'Peach O' Easy' railroad, and as such it is entitled to direct support from the Government. The Government should not go back to a territory fit only for cattle raising, he said."

NINE DEAD FROM ARSENIC POISONING

Apple Cider Served at Elks' National Home Results Fatally—Seven-teen More Are Ill

BEDFORD, Ind., Nov. 11.—The number of deaths from poisoning at the Elks' national home, believed to have resulted from drinking apple cider containing arsenic, was increased to nine tonight, when W. Hutchinson, of Cory, Pa., died. Seventeen other residents of the home are ill, at least four seriously.

Physicians called in after about twenty-five of the aged residents of the home became ill after drinking the cider, at the noon meal yesterday, diagnosed the cases as arsenic poisoning, and a subsequent investigation was said to have led to the belief that the source of the poison was the barrel containing cider. The arsenic is believed to have been left in barrel from a tree spraying compound which it previously contained.

The commonwealth's attorney and the county coroner both decided after an investigation today that the poisoning was accidental, and that none of the circumstances justified holding the inquest.

FATAL CLASH WITH GREEK COMMUNISTS

Two Killed and Twenty-One Wounded When Troops Fire Into Crowded Streets

ATHENS, Nov. 11.—A lieutenant was killed and another officer and fifteen soldiers were wounded in a clash today at Naxos between troops and Communist workmen, who were trying to prevent tobacco from being sent out of a factory by non-union men. The Communists used revolvers and dynamite. The troops fired into the crowd. One man was killed and six civilians were wounded.

TAXATION PARLEY OPENS AT OTTAWA

B.C. AND SASKATCHEWAN NOT REPRESENTED

Maritime Provinces Seek Levy on C.N.R.—Alberta Asks Help in Developing Peace River

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—"We have had a frank, friendly discussion of the problem at hand," said Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, tonight, following the first session of the taxation conference between the Dominion and seven of the provincial governments here today. The conference will continue on Wednesday and will probably conclude in the evening.

The representatives of the Maritime Provinces, it is understood, have put forth the request that the Dominion government grant them the privilege of taxation of the Canadian National Railway property in the Maritimes.

In the Peace River district the provincial government had found it essential to guarantee railway bonds in order to afford the necessary transportation facilities. This action had temporarily relieved the situation, but had cost the provincial government such a sum as would add one million dollars to their current expenditure for all time to come. It was thought by the Alberta Government that the province should be relieved of the conditioning and otherwise financing of the Northern railway, including the E. D. & B. C., the Central Canada and the A. & G. W.

The provinces of Saskatchewan and British Columbia, were not represented at the conference, but it is expected a memorial from both provinces will be submitted.

Flood Sufferers Now Use Old Canadian Hospital

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The Seine continues to rise slowly as a result of the flooded waters of the Marne now reaching Paris. The Marne is still rising and the people who dwell along the riverbank at Joinville, Creteil and Varennes are being obliged to leave their homes. The building at Joinville which was used as a hospital for Canadian soldiers during the war has been placed at the disposal of the community for the temporary accommodation of the sufferers from the flood.

A large quantity of groceries and $180 in money. They bound Creas, and when he freed himself from the ropes they had been gone fourteen hours. Creas said that he identified two of his assailants as Charles Johnson and William Watson. Three men escaped from jail here November 1. They had been arrested for trying to steal an automobile.

Authorities here expressed the opinion that the band was one that had been robbing cabins and houses along a highway to the Taku Glacier, 40 miles inland from Juneau.

David Lew's Slayer Said To Have Received $300

Police Investigation at Vancouver, Following Arrest in Victoria Recently of Chong Sing in Connection With Murder of Chinese Broker in Terminal City, Said to Reveal Fact That $1,000 Was Split Among Eight Men Who Assisted

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11.—That the slayer of David Lew, Chinese broker, who was shot to death September 24, received only $200 for the killing, is one of the features of the case said to have been revealed by continued police investigation since Chong Sing was arrested in Victoria and charged with the crime.

According to the investigation, the slayer of Lew was a Chinese, the poverty of which he had gained, and $1,000 was set aside for the purpose of procuring his assassination. Eight men, it is said, were eventually secured and all were to share in the money, and the slayer was to be selected from among them by lot. The man chosen in this manner received $200 and the other seven $100 each. The seven men were to aid the murderer in his escape.

PARIS SEES SAD SIGHTS OF WAR

Ten Thousand Armless and Legless Men and Contingents of Blind Walk Hand in Hand

DERELICTS BRING HOME TO CITY CONFLICT'S RUINS

Brilliant Ceremony Marks Armistice Day at Tomb of Unknown Soldier Under the Arc de Triomphe

PARIS, Nov. 11.—War's human wreckage, typified by thousands of crippled poilus, brought home this Armistice Day to the people of France. The derelicts of the great struggle made the day their own as they marched in sad unit processions in many of the cities of the republic to present to the authorities their humble petitions for better treatment.

After the brilliant ceremony over the Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, where President Doumergue paid reverence to the war dead and reviewed the picked troops, these war-wounded and blind veterans in columns of 10,000 moved down the Champs Elysees to the Place de la Concorde, crossed the river to the Chamber of Deputies and stopped at the Foreign Office, where a delegation presented their appeal for higher pensions to Premier Herriot.

A Pitiable Procession
As the pitiable procession went down the broad avenue away from the great arch, reversing the line of march of vigorous, clattering troops that had gone to the review a few hours earlier, men in the silent crowds that packed the terraces of the Champs Elysees uncovered, women made the sign of the cross and uniformed soldiers saluted.

There was no disorder. The parade of armless and legless men, the contingent of the blind, walking hand in hand, and the silent faces of the brigade passed almost like a religious pilgrimage.

Sufficiency of Pensions
The veterans' committee explained to Premier Herriot the insufficiency of the pensions of many classes of cripples. Some of the men, the President said, were not receiving enough even to buy food.

Mr. Herriot, after detailing the pension increases the Government proposed in the pension bill, promised the veterans he would do "the impossible" to have the country provide adequately for all.

Representatives of Allied Veterans' Associations which form the "flame committee," of which General Gouraud is president, today conducted the ceremony of reviving the "Flame of Memory," which is kept burning perpetually over the grave of France's Unknown Soldier. The ceremony is performed every day at sundown by different "veterans' organizations."

NORTHERN INDIANS LOOT LONE CANNER

PARTY OF FIVE ROB CABINET AT HAWK ISLET

Advices Reach Juneau of Bold Exploit of Natives Carried Out on Admiralty Island

JUNEAU, Nov. 11.—Five Indians held up A. E. Creas, acting postmaster on Admiralty Island, at Hawk Islet 25 miles from here, Wednesday, looted the commissary of a salmon cannery there that Creas was guarding alone for the winter, and escaped in a gasboat. Word of the exploit reached here today.

The band took twelve rifles, all the ammunition in the commissary, a large quantity of groceries and $180 in money. They bound Creas, and when he freed himself from the ropes they had been gone fourteen hours. Creas said that he identified two of his assailants as Charles Johnson and William Watson. Three men escaped from jail here November 1. They had been arrested for trying to steal an automobile.

Authorities here expressed the opinion that the band was one that had been robbing cabins and houses along a highway to the Taku Glacier, 40 miles inland from Juneau.

These were the words of a message received today by the Chief of Staff of the Headquarters of the Department of National Defence.

The following reply has been dispatched from Headquarters: "On behalf of the soldiers of Canada, I thank the administration of the city and the population of Mons for their kindly greetings on the occasion of the sixth anniversary of the armistice. COUNCIL REJECTS TAX PLEBISCITE

WILL NOT SUBMIT MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN TO ELECTORS

Would Save $40,000 a Year, Says Ald. Marchant—Ald. Woodward Is Accused of Misquoting

The City Council last night defeated a motion to submit the question of a system of monthly payment of taxes in the form of a plebiscite at the municipal elections next month. Such a system, Alderman Marchant declared, would save the city $40,000 a year.

The motion calling for a plebiscite was introduced by Alderman Marchant and seconded by Alderman Woodward. A unique feature of the motion was the provision that arguments for and against the plebiscite should be advertised in the press along with the notice of the plebiscite itself.

It was a fair and reasonable thing to ask the opinion of the electors on the question, Alderman Marchant declared. If the plebiscite carried and the provision that proper effect it would result in a saving of $40,000 a year to the city. Each taxpayer paid a visit to the City Hall each month to pay his water bill. It would be reasonable to ask him to pay one-twelfth of his taxes at the same time. No discount would be given. At least eighty per cent of the citizens were receiving weekly or monthly salaries, and it was well-established that to pay in instalments was easier than to pay in one lump sum.

To Aid Budget
Such a system would assist in the preparation of a budget at the beginning of the year. The system of spending money before they knew how much they were going to receive had ushered in an era of deficits.

"We have been through all this wearisome business before," said Alderman Todd. "I hope that the other side will refrain from inflicting further discussion of it upon us."

"I do not like that remark," declared Alderman Marchant. "When a question of saving $40,000 a year is at issue, it is not a question of 'I do not like that remark.'"

"I dispute your statement," interposed Alderman Todd. "When a question of saving $40,000 a year is at issue, it is not a question of 'I do not like that remark.'"

Alderman Sargent contributed to the debate at some length. He thought that the Council should do nothing to disturb the tranquility of a situation wherein a successful tax prepayment plan was already giving good results.

Alderman Woodward rose to refute some of Alderman Sargent's remarks. Repeating these, he was immediately accused of misquoting by Alderman Sargent, and a spirited exchange of "You-did" and "I-did-nots" ensued.

The Council finally rejected the motion, with only Alderman Marchant, Dewar and Woodward supporting it.

GUARDS WATCH HOLIDAY RUM

Canadian Highlander Due to Arrive With 87,000 Cases of Liquor Puts American Cutters on Guard

BOOTLEG PRICES TO GO SOARING SKYWARD

Captain F. Dodge, of U.S. Coastguard, Orders Cutters to Make Every Effort to Catch Rum-Runners

INDICATIONS are that the "holiday trade" in bootleg liquor on the Pacific seaboard will see a shortage of supply if the orders issued by Capt. F. Dodge, commanding officer of the United States coastguard service in the Pacific Northwest, are carried out effectively.

Instructions have been issued, following advice received that the Canadian Highlander has 87,000 cases of liquor from Scotland on board, part of which is for transshipment from Victoria and Vancouver to Mexico, that all United States coastguard cutters increase vigilance and capture every rum-runner that is possible. Already the liquor carrier Quadra is tied up at San Francisco on account of a big coup by United States federal authorities, while during the past few months many seizures of smaller rum-runners have been made in local waters.

The cost of King George IV Scotch whisky, which at present is selling in Seattle at $8 a bottle, is expected to soar skyward, practically doubling the present quotation on account of the orders issued from the Pacific Northwest department of the United States coastguard.

SEATTLE, Nov. 11.—Captain F. Dodge, commanding officer of the United States coastguard in the Pacific Northwest and Alaska, today ordered cutters in the Puget Sound district to make every effort to bring about an increase in the cost of liquor sold by bootleggers to the "holiday trade."

Orders for increased vigilance by the rum-chasers followed announcement from Vancouver of the approach of the freighter Canadian Highlander from Scotland with 87,000 cases of liquor.

The vessel cleared from Glasgow on October 23 and its cargo was expected to arrive in Seattle on November 11. The coastguard said it believed the bulk of this liquor, if not all, would find its way into the United States unless special precautions were taken.

FAT MEN AND NUTS GOOD SURETY RISKS

Insurance Companies Safe in Guaranteeing Heavyweights and Nut Cases With Hobbies, Says Expert

COLUMBIUS, O., Nov. 11.—Men with hobbies and fat men are usually good risks for surety companies. Fred M. Withey, vice-president of the National Surety Company, told the Columbus Ad Club today.

The "nut" has a hobby, Mr. Withey said, is a good moral risk because he is too busy with his pet subject to take other people's money. The fat man is a good risk because his thoughts centre on eating rather than dishonesty. The married man is a better moral risk than the bachelor by a little more rate, Withey said.

EVEN MR. UPHILL STOOPS TO QUOTE LATIN IN DEBATE

Latin quotations have played an unprecedented part in the legislative debate so far this session, and yesterday Tom Uphill, the jovial Irish coal miner who represents Fernie, with his characteristic eagerness to conform to those parliamentary customs which are brought to his attention, startled the House with a phrase from the classics.

A certain grievance of his fellow miners towards the government, he said, reminded him of the old saying: "Descensus avari facit eum." Major Dick Burde objected to the member quoting from Latin, but Mr. Uphill said he was quite familiar with the meaning of the sentence, which, he said, was: "The road to hell is easy."

"And," Mr. Uphill continued, "I want to add the government is on it. If it doesn't settle this dispute mighty quick."

SAYS LABOR WILL BE INDEPENDENT

"CONSERVATIVES AND LIBERALS LOOK ALIKE"—MR. NEELANDS
Promises Criticism of Timber Royalties Revision—Calls for Education Changes

Liberals and Conservatives look alike to Labor in British Columbia, as in Great Britain, Mr. R. H. Neelands, Labor member for South Vancouver, informed the Legislature yesterday in continuing the debate on the reply to the speech from the Throne. The Labor members were in their proper place at the left of the Speaker, he said, and whilst they would consider proposed legislation on its merits, they proposed to battle with all corners in defence of their own party principles.

Immediately after the election there had been talk of a portfolio or even the Speakership for a Labor member, he said, but intimated that no such offer had been made directly.

As a Labor party, he said, he and his colleagues intended to adhere to the party principle of advocating a new social order, based on wealth, culture, education and leisure would be more equitably distributed.

He expressed the hope that Mr. J. R. Colley's pronouncement in favor of the Government printing school textbooks could be taken as a semi-official communication to the House. A great economy, he said, as the Government had last year distributed at a cost of $37,000 textbooks which would have cost $14,000 in small stores $148,000, according to current prices.

Timber Royalties
Before the Labor party should be granted relief under the royalty act, as contended that the views expressed by Mr. Neelands and other leading lumbermen in letters to the unemployment conference recently held at Ottawa should be made the basis of their needs. He suggested that they be given relief work for board and lodging alone, as they had suggested for the unemployed laborers' grievances.

He denounced the immigration, saying that it was a crime to bring boys and girls aged from five to fourteen out to Canada to be placed in strange surroundings, especially as they were not legally adopted.

The system of public borrowing in use by the British Columbia and other governments was denounced as wasteful because for $1,000 borrowed the public had to pay back $3,000 in interest and principal, he said. Interest and sinking fund payments in some municipalities of the Province were greater than the cost of education, he contended.

His two requests of the Government were for restoration of the people's riding wiped out by redistribution and for construction of a short road in Saanich peninsula, where, he said, some struggling market gardeners had no outlet since the B.C. Electric shut down its suburban railway line.

FERNIE MEMBER DEMANDS RIGHTS

SAYS GOVERNMENT MUST GIVE DISTRICTS BEER-BY-GLASS

Vancouver May Be Content With Coca-Cola But Fernie Insists on Beer

Beer-by-the-glass, in accordance with the expressed wish of the people of his riding, was demanded on the floor of the House yesterday by Mr. Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Fernie.

Since the vote had been taken, and Fernie had voted four to one for beer, the question had been raised as to whether the government was entitled to bring in the act.

"If Vancouver wants to drink Coca-Cola, that is their lookout," Mr. Uphill said, "but in other centres which voted for beer, they are demanding beer. It is pretty small for any member to threaten to resign if beer is sold by the glass. I am not going to be satisfied until Fernie gets justice."

Going into conditions in his district, the Fernie member claimed that policies had been injected in a move to restrict beer to the miners from Alberta, against the Workmen's Compensation Board, amounting to $460 had been refused payment.

"This system is worse than that of a common thug or a hold-up man," Mr. Uphill claimed. "On Sunday I went to divine service and heard a minister ask divine guidance for the legislative members and God knows they need it."

"It reminds me of a Latin quotation: 'Descensus avari facit eum,' which, interpreted, means 'The road to hell is easy,' and I can tell this Government that unless this bill is paid they are traveling that way." (Laughter.)

Wants Roads Built
Mr. Uphill drew further laughter when he claimed that Mr. M. Manson, member for Mackenzie, was modest enough to ask $15,000 for construction of a road to a cemetery. "I would fall dead if I got half that sum for the construction of a road to one of the mining districts," he claimed as he went on to describe the need of a road to Corbin where the company had built a coal washing machine which "washed coal cleaner than a Chinook does your shirt, Mr. Speaker."

The Session

The House Achieves Style—The Human Touch Again—The Voice of Labor Is Confident—Mr. Uphill's Latin—Whom the Gods Would Destroy

The Press Gallery, Tuesday.

Members returning to their places in the House today, with a red poppy in their coats, and malice towards none in their hearts, were confirmed in their Thanksgiving mood or geniality by a sight which took none of the holiday joy out of their lives. This was the sight of the little page boys of the House, brave and brisk in neat uniforms of blue and gold. The innovation credited to Mr. Speaker Buckham, who was felicitated upon the touch of style and color he had lent by it to the proceedings of the Legislature. The pages are busy little chaps. Honorable members, half way through a peroration in which they hunger for righteousness in public affairs, and busy at anything at all, make a certain sign in the direction of the steps leading to Mr. Speaker's chair. Immediately a little beaming water carrier appears in glasses, and the first aid to oratory is administered in time to prevent a serious hiatus in the glowing periods. The pages carry messages across the floor for honorable members, and post their letters, and find their hats, and generally behave as diminutive guides, counsellors and friends to them. They have a proper sense of the importance of their position, these little pages, and their neat uniforms have given them a new dignity.

The House, intensely human despite all its alleged shortcomings, responds instantly to the human touch. That touch was imparted today to the formal motion of condolence, moved by the Premier and supported by Mr. Pooley, with the family of the late Mr. Fred C. Wade, K.C., Major Richard Burde, rising after Mr. Oliver and the leader of the opposition had spoken. It was recalled that 44 years ago in Winnipeg, when he, a little newsboy, "no bigger than these little fellows who run errands for us here," Mr. Speaker, had received many kindnesses from Mr. Wade, then a young newspaperman. And then Mr. D. A. Stoddart, Provincial member for Carleton Place, told the House how he and the dead Agent-General of the Province in England had been school-boys together, and how the memory of those days came home to him now, although his path in life and Mr. Wade's had run far asunder in the intervening years.

Labor, speaking to the House today in the persons of Mr. R. H. Neelands, South Vancouver, and Mr. Thomas Uphill, Fernie, offered small tangible comfort to a Government with a somewhat precarious majority. Mr. Neelands said the Labor members would deal with all questions on their merits. It was noticeable that both he and Mr. Uphill, nevertheless, made their modest requests on honorable ministers for specific boons in their respective districts—and they were modest requests—with a certain air of confidence that honorable ministers would lend an attentive ear. And it was noticeable, likewise, that honorable ministers did lend an attentive ear.

"That's a nice thing to say to a nervous Government," commented the member for Mary Todd Island, when Mr. Neelands said that Labor would deal with all questions on their merits. "Take it from me, what this Government wants to know is whether the Labor members are going to vote with it or with the Opposition. Dealing with questions on their merits is all very well as an oratorical flourish, but it butters no parsnips. This Government, which wants questions dealt with so that it will be able to eat its Christmas dinner with a quiet mind. Mind you," concluded the honorable member, "I'm not saying the Government is worrying an awful lot, and if they were they'd never let on, but they've got to be worried. That's the only election to make a good many nourishing omelets if they hadn't added them; and when you've got to depend on independent members and Labor members there to get through a session, it makes you mighty civil in your manners. If you ask me, these Labor members can have anything in reason this session."

As predicted in this column last week, Mr. Thomas Uphill, in his contribution to the adjourned debate on the address today, surprised and delighted the House with a Latin quotation, an apt and telling one, and while honorable ministers joined in the general laughter they did it with something of a chastened air. Mr. Uphill has been eloquent on what he characterized as the injustice done in Fernie by the refusal of the Workmen's Compensation Board to honor a bill for medical treatment to miners injured in a colliery explosion there, in the sum of $664. "Decensus avari facit eum," said Uphill, "means 'The road to hell is easy,' and I can tell this Government that unless this bill is paid they are traveling that way." (Laughter.)

One of the things the member for Mary Todd Island would like to know is why the Government has stirred up all the trouble in the Government's riding that at the beginning of the session, instead of waiting until the members had gone home for Christmas. "Whom the gods would destroy they first bring to ruin," said the member, who is a fellow student of the classics with the member for Fernie. "Here they are," said he, "with their resolutions and their speeches to speak of, and two or three supporters of their own who are very touchy on the Government's liquor act, and they go and fire the old

Here Is Something Unique Nothing Like It on the Market

We have for sale, at Cadboro Bay, a site of about one acre, which possesses the requisites for gardens of all sorts. A high, dry-building site, with a splendid view, and a moisture-seeping slope, already terraced and drained by nature.

Victoria is justly proud of her rockland gardens with their wealth of floral display, also of her noble homesites on the levels and lowlands, with the beauty of their shrubberies, trees, lawns and parks. During the long, dry Summer, the upkeep and watering of the flower beds, rock gardens and lawns is an expensive item. To establish a garden for the growing of ferns and moisture-loving plants would be prohibitive in cost, and has not, so far, been attempted in the city.

This site gives an unsurpassed opportunity for anyone who can realize its possibilities for establishing something quite new in the way of ferneries, rockeries and growing moisture-loving plants. Clear running springs and natural slopes and terraces are already supplied by nature.

The property adjoins the Uplands and overlooks Cadboro Bay, with its yacht club, beach and Indian fosse. It is close to the golf links, and within twelve minutes of the car.

MR. HUGH DAVIDSON IN SOLE CONTROL

ATTORNEY-GENERAL SAYS IT'S ALL SETTLED

Hon. Mr. Manson Considers Verbal Resignations Made by Former Officials Are Good Enough

What is the situation in respect to the Government Liquor Control Board?

That is the question that seems to be clouding the atmosphere, not only in certain Parliamentary circles, but where the man on the street is concerned. In reply to Mr. H. Despard, Twigg in the Legislature last Friday, Attorney-General Manson said that Mr. Hugh Davidson, of Vancouver, the Government's latest appointee, was in sole command of the good ship British Columbia Liquor Business. He also informed the third member for Victoria that the resignations of the three members of the former Control Board, Messrs. A. M. Johnson, J. H. Falconer and Col. W. N. Winby, had been given to him and had been received, verbally. It is true, but none the less given, received, and so far as he was concerned, they were official.

Yet, and here's the rub; Messrs. Johnson, Falconer and Col. Winby have stated they have not presented their resignations, either individually or collectively, to Hon. Mr. Manson or anybody else; and furthermore, they had no intention of so doing. Under the circumstances, the term, "clouding the atmosphere" seems to be the right expression.

Hon. Mr. Manson, asked last night for the latest developments in respect to liquor control, said that all had been done and said. Mr. Hugh Davidson was in sole control, he declared, and Messrs. Johnson and Falconer and Col. Winby had ceased to be in the employ of the British Columbia Government.

Failing Escort's Arrival, Prisoners Are Set Free

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11.—Sundar Singh and Wana Singh, accused of stealing $500 in Prince George and arrested here some days ago, walked out of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald's court Tuesday afternoon free men. Mr. R. L. Mailand applied for a writ of habeas corpus on Saturday, and finally the court set bail at $500 each, with the understanding that if the escort which Mr. Oscar Orr stated was en route from Prince George did not arrive by Tuesday he would not oppose their release without bail. The escort did not materialize, and as the prosecution had no further particulars to offer the court, the release of the men was ordered.

Accident Results in Death of Teacher

Mr. Frank Andrews Succumbs From Injuries Sustained Last Friday
—Was on High School Staff Since 1903—Well-Known Authority on Canadian History and Politics Was Frequently Consulted—Sat in Nova Scotia Legislature

THE death early yesterday morning of Mr. Frank Andrews, 1368 Pandora Avenue, was the unhappy sequel of the accident which he suffered last Friday evening when returning from the Melhien meeting at Pantages Theatre. On his way home he went to the Westholme Hotel to call on a friend and owing to falling sight he made a mistake in the dark and drove his car into the basement. Unconscious when picked up, he was rushed to the Jubilee Hospital and found to be suffering from concussion of the brain and a fractured arm, his dangerous condition from the first leaving little room for hope. The greatest symptom of the accident was a fracture of the arm, his dangerous condition from the first leaving little room for hope. The greatest symptom of the accident was a fracture of the arm, his dangerous condition from the first leaving little room for hope.

The late Mr. Frank Andrews, who was seventy-two years of age, was a native of Victoria Vale, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, son of Mr. John Andrews, a Cornishman, who came to Canada and settled with a son, a man. A clever student, he took his B.A. degree from Acadia University in 1881, and took up teaching, a profession for which he proved himself eminently qualified. He had attained the principalship of one of the public schools at Halifax, Nova Scotia, later at Windsor, Nova Scotia, before he entered politics. Always a staunch Conservative, his nomination as second member for Annapolis in the election of 1886 was on this ticket. Married some years prior to this, he and Mrs. Andrews (nee Bertha Phinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Phinney, then of Victoria Vale), were living, during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Phinney, on their farm in Annapolis Valley. His honest and views on matters of political policy found ample opportunity for expression during the Fieiding administration, when the withdrawal of the Maritime Provinces from Confederation and the formation of a Maritime Union became leading questions. To this policy he was definitely opposed.

Came to Victoria
Leaving the Legislature, Mr. Andrews went to Harvard University to take a post-graduate course in pedagogy in 1901 before resuming his profession of teaching. In 1903 he came to Victoria to take a position on the high school staff here, and he held the position until the time of his death, greatly esteemed by his pupils as well as his associates in and out of the school, to the former familiarly known as "Dad" Andrews. Although as a teacher he ranked as an expert in mathematics and spent most of his time teaching this subject, he was widely regarded as an authority on matters of Canadian history, particularly from the period of Confederation onward. In fact he was so generally recognized as one of the best informed men of the city on this subject that his opinion was frequently sought by persons quite unknown to him. His removal to Western Canada did not in any wise effect a change of political faith. He remained a loyal Conservative to the last, although his friendships were not confined to men of his own belief. A notable instance was his friendship with the Hon. Mr. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, during the four years that Mr. Andrews sat in the Legislature of that province, the former being a Liberal. A great reader and student, he was also a ready and forceful debater, either on the platform or in the columns of the press, and brought out many valuable points in discussion of local and national questions. He was an uncompromising supporter of the temperance movement. Although not particularly prominent in the congregational part of church life, he was for some years a teacher of the Adult Bible Class of Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Besides the widow, there survive one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Keeble, of Portland, Maine; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Andrews; a niece, Mrs. H. O. English, of this city; and three brothers, Dr. A. B. Andrews, of Malden, Mass.; Mr. G. W. Andrews, and Mr. Arthur Andrews, both of Middleton, N.S. The remains are at the B.C. Funeral Chapel.

Some Tributes
Mr. J. L. Beckwith, one of Mr. Andrews' oldest friends here, expressed his sense of personal loss in the death of his old acquaintance.

"I have known Mr. Andrews for many years—before he came to British Columbia, as well as since he came here—and have appreciated him very much as a friend, and thought of him as one of our most worthy citizens. As a member of the High School staff he has been one of the most valuable teachers that the school has ever had. I agree with what has been said by others: that the school will be greatly the loser by the termination of his valuable work. The accident and its result was a terrible shock to everyone. While Mr. Andrews did not always agree, nor pretend to agree, with one, one had to admire him for the courage of his convictions; one knew always where to find him."

"I feel a personal loss in his death," said Mr. Beckwith. "I have known him quite intimately in political life, and I consider him one of the best posted men on Canadian political history that we have had. If at any time one wanted any information on Canadian history or Canadian politics, one had only to get into touch with Mr. Andrews to get it correctly. He was wonderfully well-informed."

Referring to Mr. Andrews in politics, Mr. Beckwith said that as a campaigner Mr. Andrews had always looked upon his political opponents as uncompromising in their belief. But he, on the other hand, was just as thoroughly convinced that his views were correct. When the repeal policy came before the people of the Maritime Provinces, Mr. Andrews stood openly against a withdrawal of this section of Canada from Confederation. He believed profoundly that Canada's future lay in the welding together of the Provinces, and he was always a staunch supporter of the national policy defined by Sir John A. Macdonald in 1873.

Genuine Ideals
Ald. Sargent, another close personal friend, said last evening: "I have known Mr. Andrews since 1904 and have admired him for the genuineness of his ideals and the very earnest interest which he took in the essential

VICTORIANS PAY RESPECT TO DEAD

OBSERVANCE OF TWO-MINUTE SILENCE IMPRESSIVE

Business Activity Ceases at 11 A.M. for Annual Brief Armistice Day Memorial Ceremony

Victorians, in common with citizens of every other city and town throughout the Dominion, observed the two minutes' silence yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and paid tribute to the sacrifices made by those who lost their lives during the Great War.

Six years ago yesterday the great conflict in the history of civilization was brought to a conclusion by the signing of the Armistice. Each year since, on November 11, Canadians have ceased labor at 11 o'clock on the morning of that day for a period of two minutes, in commemoration of the sacrifice made by those who did not return.

Impressive observance of the annual two minutes' silence, which was requested here by His Worship Mayor Hayward, took place yesterday morning. All activity seemed to stop at 11 o'clock. Street cars halted, motor cars and street traffic stopped. Business in stores, banks and other places halted. People on the city's thoroughfares bared their heads, and all over the city respect was paid to the gallant sailors, soldiers and nurses who were killed in action.

Employers gave notice to their staffs that work would cease at 11 a.m. for a two-minute period, and the cessation of activity during that short space of time was general all over town. The Armistice Period Committee, which arranged the Armistice celebrations, had joined with Mayor Hayward in the request that the two minutes' silence be observed, and was pleased with the co-operation extended by everybody in carrying out so impressively this feature of the ceremonies.

The two-minute silence was observed by soldier members of the civil service yesterday morning in the rotunda of the Parliament Buildings, Brigadier-General Odium, M. P. for Vancouver, stood forth from the ranks and indicated the hour of eleven, and after two minutes' silence had passed he pronounced these words: "This we have done in memory of our fellow citizens and loved ones who gave their lives for us."

G. P. R. Traffic Chief Answers McGeer Case

Mr. W. B. Lanigan Declared B.C. Government's Freight Rate Counsel Ignores Tremendous Cost of Transporting Across Rockies and Ease of Shipping by Eastern Waterways—Says Persistent Agitations by Provincial Government Are for Political Purposes

By W. B. LANIGAN
General Freight Manager, Canadian Pacific Railway.

MR. McGeer is a prominent member of the British Columbia bar. His affix of K.C. was undoubtedly the reward of merit and good conduct. His selection by the Government of British Columbia in freight rate litigation is a further endorsement of his outstanding ability; consequently, his opinions are not to be lightly dismissed. That they are not shared by such eminent authorities in transportation matters as Sir Henry Thornton, the Board of Railway Commissioners, to say nothing of the Canadian Pacific, can only be regarded as unfortunate, or perhaps as another outstanding example of "everybody being out of step but our Jack." It is possible, however, that the eminent K.C., in straying from the flowery trail of law and politics where he has deservedly earned distinction, has lost his way in the comparatively prosaic and unfamiliar sphere of facts. For this he may be forgiven, for even those who have perused the Scriptures with diligence have sometimes emerged on the knees of strange gods and mouthed peculiar doctrines. Euclid himself occasionally arrives at a "reductio ad absurdum," but, to his credit, unlike the eminent barrister, does not stop at that point.

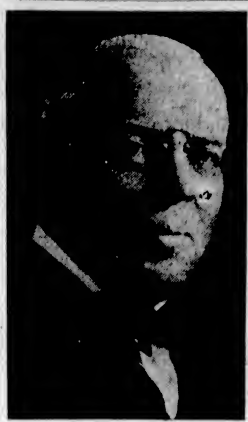

Who is in the wrong? The Board of Railway Commissioners, who after twenty years of patient investigation and adjudication laid down the freight rate bases of Canada, East and West, or is it Mr. McGeer? Mr. McGeer failed before the Board, and now appeals to a larger jurisdiction—the public of Canada—through the columns of Saturday Night, and in that appeal serves up such portions of the evidence as will support his conclusions, and suppresses always, he it understood, with a benevolent censorship, such essentials as may damage his case. The people of Canada, through their representatives in Parliament, passed a Railway Act siding the Railway Board powers exceeding that exercised by any court in the land, and entrusted the decision in railway matters to that body. In other words, the Railway Commission represents the people of Canada, hears all the evidence and decides accordingly. The impossibility of fully presenting all the facts through the columns of the press to the public is obvious, but without the complete story on both sides it is equally obvious that the decisions of the Board cannot be justified.

Revenue Sacrificed
Mr. McGeer deals with certain rate comparisons, and in quoting these suppresses the information that the rates on fruit from Eastern Canada to Western Canada were the result of 1897 legislation arbitrarily applied to the railway operating costs of 1924 against the protests of the railways. He refers to export rates on grain as compared with domestic rates, but fails to point out a sacrifice of revenue by the carriers for the purpose of developing markets abroad for an exportable surplus, and that the same contract can be afforded between domestic and export rates to the Atlantic seaboard. He speaks of tourist rates for automobiles from Kootenay Landing, B.C., to Nelson, B.C., as compared with those applying to the farmers' Fordson trucks, but curiously omits the fact that the tourist cannot bridge the water gap with his automobile while the farmer does not prosecute his pilgrimage with Fordson truck, and in any event there are no farmers at Kootenay Landing, nor Fordson or any other truck to ship. Provision was made, he admits, for the actual movement of tourists' automobiles.

The Panama Canal was, as pointed out by Mr. McGeer, constructed in 1914. The "mushroom growth of elevators" he refers to are still not visible either on the Fraser, or at Prince Rupert. They will not be a "mushroom growth," but a permanent development. The fact that the terminal facilities of Vancouver are congested with export grain is an outstanding testimony that the rail rates are accomplishing a diversion of traffic towards the Pacific. Export rates to Vancouver on grain were lower in 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918 than they have been since. Someone was asking the switch during this interval if no grain moved until 1921, when rail export rates on grain reached their maximum.

Rate Comparisons
At first blush one cannot but be struck with the rate comparisons on fruit between the Okanagan and Calgary on the one hand, and Grimsby and Montreal on the other. Verily by faith ye can move mountains. With an eloquent gesture, Mr. McGeer levels the intervening majesty of the Rockies and belittles on one hand, with the other, like a modern Moses, dries up the potential waterways of Lake Ontario and the mighty St. Lawrence as rate-making factors. In this, as in other matters, he is at variance with the studied conclusions of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

It is when Mr. McGeer depicts the balmy climate of the Sunset Province and pictures with a trenchant pen the storm-swept Winter coast of the Atlantic Provinces, the bitter cold of the Prairies, and heaps "Pellon on Ossa" by referring to the bitter alkali waters of the interior, that he reaches the pinnacle of effort. Can it be possible that the Board of Railway Commissioners remained dry-eyed and unshaken under a burning eloquence that melted the mountain snows, damped the mountain floods, and turned their snow-clad peaks and curving trails into Elysian fields? Unmoved, with an eastbound vision, ignoring the poetic primrose by the river's brim, they coldly and calmly reviewed the facts only, and gave judgment accordingly. The facts are simple enough. The tonnage per mile of railway, the earnings per mile of railway, East and West, are easily ascertained. Taking the figures of the Canadian Pacific Railway which Mr. McGeer dwells upon with such

MR. W. B. LANIGAN

Take the Canadian National figures for 1923:

Canadian	Western Line
Operating Profit	$2,020,709.52
Operating Loss	$13,465,464.57

Mr. MacLeod, Consulting Officer to the Executive of the Canadian National, testifying before the Senate investigation on branch lines last season, in answer to an inquiry as to the Western lines operating loss, promptly replied that it was due to operations in the mountains.

B.C. Tonnage Low
The testimony before the Board showed that British Columbia's tonnage production per mile of railway was the lowest of any province, except Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. That the operating expenses in that province were from 25 per cent to 50 per cent higher than on the Prairies. That the rail rates in Eastern Canada were controlled by navigable waters. That rates on grain to Vancouver for export were substantially lower than for similar service to Seattle, Portland or San Francisco, on American railways. That the east-bound rates from Vancouver were lower than from any other Pacific port on the continent. The east-bound commodity rates from British Columbia to Eastern Canada were lower than for similar distances from Eastern Canada to Prairie destinations, and with these facts before him the voice of the eloquent K.C. is still raised in the wilderness, crying like the hero of Aeschylus' fable, "Woe, woe!"

An appeal can hardly be made to the average politician with other purposes to serve, but surely with sixty per cent of the railway mileage of the Dominion in the hands of the Government, a man of Sir Henry Thornton's caliber at the helm, and a Board of Railway Commissioners to hold the scales of justice between the carriers and their patrons, the average business man using the railways will breathe a sigh of relief when these persistent rate agitations for political purpose will cease.

We have entrusted the Canadian National Railway lines to Sir Henry Thornton, whose problem is sufficiently difficult without being the subject of political vote-getting propaganda on railway rates. The Railway Board, with a full knowledge of facts, may be similarly relied upon to do what is just and right. They have no other incentive.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, the financial barometer of Canadian investment, is admirably efficient and intelligently administered. None of these factors can be truthfully challenged with a lack of patriotism or lack of a monumental pride which even Mr. McGeer's eloquence and undoubted forensic abilities have so failed of conviction.

Contents Dr. A. O. MacLach, Former University School Head, in Addressing Kiwanis Club

The salvation of any people today lies in education. Dr. A. O. MacLach, former headmaster of the University Military School at Mount Toimie and now lecturer of philosophy at the University of British Columbia, told members of the Kiwanis Club yesterday noon at their weekly luncheon when he delivered an instructive address on the topic, "Shall Nationalism Prevail?"

The speaker stated that the Germans have proved his contention by transforming their nation, through the schools, in the years since 1870. They knew they could not teach old dogs new tricks, but they could and did teach the children.

Similarly, Dr. MacLach showed that prohibition had been written into the constitution of the United States as a result of child education, carried on over a term of years. "Unless we can now show that nationalism is in accord with humanism, the time for the passing of nationalism is coming," he claimed.

"We must carry out this larger view of the British nation, he said, to go into oblivion like the great people of antiquity," Dr. MacLach declared.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, Mr. Hugh Allen complimented Dr. MacLach on his address.

Enjoyable vocal contributions to the programme were made by Mr. Frank Fairbridge, who was the recipient of well-merited applause.

An acquaintance stunt was staged, each member of the club introducing himself, giving his classification in the organization. President R. J. Willis presided over the gathering.

Service Clubs Hosts at Dance
Poppy Ball Sponsored by Six Veterans' Associations, Mark Armistice Night

Six soldier organizations combined to hold a poppy ball last night at the Alexandra House, which was distinctly charming in every way and attended by a large number of guests. Members of the service clubs who were hosts last night included veterans of the Army and Navy, the Comrades of France, the Canadian Legion, Tubercular Veterans, British Campaigners and the Amputation Club.

During the evening His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Walter C. Nichol attended the dance, accompanied by Mr. H. J. Muske, As the gubernatorial party entered the ballroom the dance music ceased and the National Anthem was played. Handmaster Rumbly's orchestra supplied excellent music for the dancers. A very artistic and effective scheme of decoration had been carried out in the ballroom by members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I. O. E., and while masses of poppies and laurel formed the chief features of the scheme, flags were also employed, and light streamers suspended from the side lights enhanced the beauty of the scene.

Supper was served under the efficient management of the Alexandra House at prettily decorated tables. The success of the dance reflects great credit on the work of the committee in charge, including Captain C. F. L. Money, Mesdames N. R. B. C. L. Chivers, C. Gardiner, while Mr. J. C. Sparks officiated as master of ceremonies.

Hundreds Attend Big Armistice Night Dance

Poppy Ball Last Night at Empress Hotel Proves Popular Rendezvous for Huge Crowd, When Hosts Are Members of Great War Veterans' Association—Proceeds Will Benefit Two Local Hospitals—Entertainment Features Meet With Popularity

OVER six hundred guests enjoyed the Poppy Ball held last night at the Empress Hotel under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association in aid of the two local hospitals, the Provincial Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's. Of the four annual Armistice night balls held by the G.W.V.A., last night's function was by far the most successful, and never before has the association entertained such a large number of guests.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, attended by Major Seiden Humphreys, Major R.H.B. Ker, and Mr. H. J. Musket, formally opened the ball. His Honor made a short address in which he announced the proceeds from the affair would be devoted to the hospitals and complimented the hosts on the evident success of the evening. Mr. Nichol was a lovely gown of velvet rose shot aub, the skirt gracefully draped with a satin train, and a large opalescent beads in an elaborate design. She carried a beautiful jade colored clutch fan, and completed her charming toilette with a handkerchief and a small hat.

Zala's nine-piece orchestra provided a feature of the evening, and compliments and applause were literally showered upon the musicians by their most generous with their endorses, and kept up the festive celebration of Armistice night until a late hour. Dancing took place in the ballroom, and the writing room was also thrown into use to accommodate the large crowd. Supper, under the management of the Empress Hotel, was served in the dining room, and several altitudes were necessary to serve the numerous patrons with the comfort which marked the whole evening's entertainment.

The thorough enjoyment of the guests was the reward of the committee in charge, which had worked so indefatigably for the success of the dance. The members included: Mesdames G. Inglewood (president), S. W. N. Saunders (secretary), W. G. Stone (treasurer), J. Cassidy, J. L. Colvert, J. P. Bond, A. J. Fourcay, D. G. Holmes, F. J. Merriman, R. C. Penbridge, F. B. Robinson, D. Sheret, J. N. Watt, E. W. Jones, J. G. Johnson, H. W. King, C. Lambert, A. McIntyre.

The ballroom glowed with the brilliant scene, the beautiful colors of the ladies' gowns contrasting with the uniform worn by the naval and military men, while a number of overseas nurses in uniform added another distinctive touch to the assembly. Among the many who were present last night were His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Nichol, Mr. Frank and Lady Barnard, Major and Mrs. Seiden Humphreys, Major and Mrs. H. B. Ker, Mr. H. J. Musket, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Goddard, Dr. and Mrs. McCullum, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. To Commemorate Armistice Day Members of I.O.E. Present Pupils With Gifts

Gonzales Chapter, I.O.E., and Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.E., yesterday presented their respective "schools of adoption" with gifts in commemoration of Armistice Day. The majority of the chapters making presentations on this occasion to schools carried out their ceremonies on Friday, when a record of the Prince of Wales' address on "Sportsmanship" was sent to the University School from the St. Valentine-Harvey-H. Beaumont Boggs Chapter; a similar record was sent to the Burnside School from the H.M.S. Resolution Chapter; while Mr. James Douglas School received a record from Lady Douglas Chapter; and the Prince of Wales Chapter made presentations to the Girls' Central and Spring Ridge Schools. Ex-Quilmat Chapter sent a record to Lampson Street School.

Mrs. L. A. Genge, regent of Gonzales Chapter, I.O.E., on behalf of the chapter, presented to Monterey School a senior I.O.E. library which was received by Captain Bester, principal. Mrs. Genge accompanied the presentation with a graceful little speech, after which Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Municipal Chapter regent, added a few words. During the ceremony the school children sang several songs, including "O Canada." The standard-bearer of the chapter, Mrs. Nisbet, who presented and other members were Mrs. L. E. Kent, Miss A. B. Cooke, Mrs. Musket, Miss M. Pitts, Mrs. McCulloch.

Following the little ceremony at Monterey School, another presentation was made by Gonzales Chapter at the Willows School, when a picture of Jack Cornwall was given to the pupils by Mrs. Genge, who gave a brief and simple address to the assembly, emphasizing the auspicious occasion, the anniversary of Armistice Day. Mrs. A. B. Cooke gave a most enlightening address to the children, and the meeting closed with songs from the students.
Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.E., commemorated the day by giving the Bank Street School a record of the Prince of Wales' address on "Sports-lifted her hand to his lips and held it there for a moment, then he released her and turned away. "I'll wait till you come," he said obstinately.

She watched him go out of the room, she listened to his steps in the passage, and the opening and closing of the front door, but the heart of the step was the pavement outside and he passed the window and the house—then they died away, and a great silence seemed to fall on the world.

"REP" RUGGERS OUT SATURDAY

TEST MATCH WILL BE PLAYED BETWEEN TWO TEAMS

No. 10000 Cup Games—Victoria to Play Columbia at Duncan on 22 and Here 29

So that the "rep" rugby team will be in the best of shape to meet Vancouver on November 29, the local union, at the meeting held last night, decided to cancel the scheduled Harvard Cup games for next Saturday and play a test match between two picked fifteen at the Willows Park on Saturday. A practice will be held on Thursday night at the Horseshow Building and every player whose name was handed in by the various clubs is asked to be on hand so that the selection committee will have plenty of material to work with.

Every effort will be made this year to mould together a team that will do their utmost to bring the McKeehan Cup to this city. Considerable new material is available and with the advent of the new blood along with some of the old-timers, Victoria's chances look very rosy. In the scrum the locals will be particularly strong, while there will be several sterling halfbacks to pick from as well as plenty of three. Ross Johnson, the old reliable, brought a new pair of shoes last Friday and from the showing he made against the Tillamums his old position will be waiting him.

Lots of Practice
Following the practice match Saturday, the union will get the players out at two practices during next week. From the showing made in the test match and taking into account the regularity of turning out to practice, the "rep" team will be chosen and another test match played on November 22. It is imperative that every man whose name has been turned in turn out to these matches and practice otherwise their names will be dropped off the list and someone else will be put in their place.

On Saturday, November 22, a team, which will be composed of the rest of the players whose names do not appear on the possible "rep" teams, will be picked to play a match in Duncan against the Cowichan fifteen. The up-Island squad have a snappy line-up and are very anxious to test the wares of a local team. On the following Saturday a return game will be played here while the local "rep" team is over in Vancouver.

A vote of condolence was tendered to Mrs. E. A. E. Nixon, widow of Commander Nixon, in her recent and bereavement. Commander Nixon was a great supporter of rugby during his stay here and was responsible for filling the breach which occurred two years ago when enough teams to form a four-team league could not be found. Commander Nixon founded a team at the Naval College with the result that the league was carried out successfully and one of the biggest seasons ensued. He was instrumental in bringing rugby to a high standard and last year was mainly responsible for the entry from the Navy, which has now taken the name of the United Services. He was elected vice-president of the British Columbia Union at its last annual meeting.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 11.—The Minnesota State Boxing Commission today exonerated Morris Schlaifer, of Omaha, from blame for fouling Jack Malone, St. Paul, middleweight, in the third round of their bout here last night. Schlaifer hit Malone twice in the third round, but the commission decided that he was first time Schlaifer ever had lost a contest by fouling his opponent. Schlaifer's purse, which had been withheld by the commission, was turned over to him.

GOLFERS PRACTICE HARD AT DEL MONTE

Tournaments Arranged for Holidays at California Links—Bullock Webster in Game

DEL MONTE, Nov. 11.—Golfers are getting in some practice links these days at the Del Monte and Pebble Beach links in preparation for the holiday tournaments that have been announced for Del Monte. For Thanksgiving, the event will be a match play vs. par, and it is expected to draw a good entry. The remodelled hotel, with the temporary but substantial dining-room, palm grill, etc., will be opened at the time, and quite a number of golfers will be anxious to see how everything shapes up after the fire.

For Christmas there will be a big hodge competition, and New Year will be featured with the annual three-day tournament for men and women. The New Year tournament has developed into the big feature of the California Winter golf season. A number of visiting players from the Northwest, British Columbia and the East are always on hand to compete against California golfers, and it adds much interest.

Jack Morrill is another regular at Del Monte. He paired up with Governor Morrill, and the famous writer, agitating Charley Goodwin and Bill Rynoch.

Carl S. Stanley, manager of the Hotel Del Monte, is back home after a month's trip in the East. He is pretty busy working on plans for the new hotel.

Carl D. Kelly, of Chicago, who is making his home at Pebble Beach, is one of the most improved of local players. He has taken ten strikes off his game and is frequently breaking into the sixties.

Francis Brown, the phenomenal long hitter from Honolulu, is expected at Del Monte soon. He is to play with the Del Monte junior polo team, the result that the league was carried out successfully and one of the biggest seasons ensued. He was instrumental in bringing rugby to a high standard and last year was mainly responsible for the entry from the Navy, which has now taken the name of the United Services. He was elected vice-president of the British Columbia Union at its last annual meeting.

Associated with Rickard in the project is John Ringling, circus owner and director of many railroads, who is chairman of the board of directors, Col. J. S. Hammond, vice-president, and Frank E. Coultrey, secretary.

WALTER JOHNSON TO BUY OAKLAND

FAMOUS PITCHER IS INSURED AGAINST ENCROACHMENTS

Cost League Meeting Close—Some Salt Lake Games Are to Be Played at San Diego

SEATTLE, Nov. 11.—The annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Baseball League closed here today after adopting resolutions assuring Walter Johnson, pitcher of the Washington American League Club, that he could buy the Oakland franchise and feel safe that no other club would encroach on his territory, eliminating the first two weeks of play in Salt Lake City, and inviting the National Association of Minor Leagues of America to hold its 1925 convention on the Pacific Coast, probably at Los Angeles.

New Vice-Presidents
H. W. Lane, of Salt Lake; Thomas L. Turner, of Portland, and Lewis Moreland, of Sacramento, were elected vice-presidents for 1925, and J. Cal Ewing, of Oakland, was appointed a delegate to the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues at Hartford, Conn., December 2.

The resolution read that: "No franchise shall hereafter be granted to any person or association to maintain a ball club within a territory now controlled by either the Oakland or San Francisco Ball Clubs without consent of both the existing Oakland or San Francisco clubs, nor shall any existing franchise hereafter granted by this association be permitted to be moved to, or located within the territory now controlled by the Oakland or San Francisco Ball Clubs without consent of both said Oakland and San Francisco clubs."

Play at San Diego
Permission was given the Salt Lake team to play both Vernon and Portland, the teams it meets the two opening weeks of next year, in San Diego, agreeable to those clubs, because of adverse weather conditions prevalent in Salt Lake City at that time of the season. No player deals were announced.

Ty's Lesson
His Father's Orders—A Shattered Outlook—Ty Goes to Work

CHAPTER III
By H. G. SALLINGER
Ty Cobb as a boy learned what he regards as his most valuable lesson during a summer vacation. He had planned to spend the vacation as his previous ones had been spent—In playing ball, fishing and swimming. One evening his father called him aside and he would have to go to work, the father said. Young Ty Cobb did not like the idea. His father was insistent. He told him the time had come when he must find out something about earning a livelihood, something about the demands of work and the rewards of work. He was old enough, said the father, to learn about the more serious things of life.

The plan still did not appeal to Cobb. He had been eagerly waiting for Spring, and then for Summer. He had counted on the swimming hole. And now all he had planned for, all he hoped for, all that he valued, was taken from him in a full sweep of parental command.

Ty's Ten Acres
"I have ten acres near here," said the father of Ty Cobb. "This ten acres I have been holding for several years until you were old enough to work it. The soil will produce cotton, and I want you to produce ten acres of cotton."

He will go about the thing in a regular manner, the same as if you owned the land and were a cotton planter. You will keep the books and supervise everything. It will be up to you entirely. I am putting the whole thing in your hands.

"Tomorrow morning we will go out, you and I. We will make all the necessary purchases, acquire all the necessary equipment. We will put down the cost of everything. Then you must keep in mind the cost and learn to make up all the cost and get the investment to earn money."

They started out the next morning, young Ty Cobb and his father. They went to a hardware store for a plow; to a harness shop for a harness; and to a seed store to buy cotton seed.

Ty is given a Mule
The Cobb had several horses. Ty Cobb suggested that he take one of those horses, and he asked his father how he could have for use on the 10-acre farm.

"You can't have any of them," replied his father. "That would be borrowed equipment. I want you to invest your own money. We will not be too expensive. It will do the work required of them. We will buy a mule."

They bought the mule and the elder Cobb took the mule and the plow, the harness, the seed and other equipment to the ten acres and told Ty Cobb to get to work.

It was difficult work at first. It was also distasteful work. Ty Cobb went at it in a half-hearted, disinterested manner. He was not interested in the job. All he saw was the back of the mule, the diamond of the swimming hole. He heard the call of youth and he was heavily shackled to a plow. He was hated, plow, harness, mule, hat, cotton! Hated cotton! Hated farming!

His father made him sick. He was sick on early each morning and sent to his room. He hit the mule with his mule and started on his job. It was hard work and he did not see the use of it, anyway.

A Hit in Cotton
Then, slowly, a change came over him. The cotton stalks began peeping above the surface of the ground. He became interested. He watched over his mule, walked the ten acres, noted how the stalks in one plot were outgrowing the stalks in another part, observing them just a trifle, but still outgrowing them.

The idea came to him that he was producing something, that he was really contributing to the world. He was a person of importance.

He had a new interest in life, a mission to perform. He looked forward to each new day with eagerness. Always when he quit at dusk, he mapped out his duties for the following day and went to bed at night, knowing that at dawn he would be eager to go out to his farm and carry on the work.

Rain clouds that had previously made a spotted day for him, now took on a new meaning. When the cotton fields needed rain he watched each fleeting cloud, eagerly hoping for a gathering of storm clouds. He speculated on what his ten acres would produce, on what he would get for his cotton in the market. He had his investment to overcome, the cost of the mule, the plow, the harness and the other utensils.

"That was the most valuable lesson I ever received," said Ty Cobb. "I learned that money had to be earned. I learned the value of the dollar, the joy of earning it. I could not have learned it in any better way."

HOCKEY TEAM MAY GO TO AUSTRALIA

TOUR DEPENDS ON FINANCIAL POSSIBILITIES

Desire's Application for Reinstatement as Amateur Considered—Mr. Watson Is Secretary

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11.—If satisfactory financial arrangements can be made, British Columbia will send a hockey team to Australia at the end of the coming hockey season, according to a decision made by the British Columbia Hockey Association at a meeting here. President L. C. Mucken was unanimously re-elected. Others elected were: Vice-president, George Warren, Victoria; secretary-treasurer, Percy Watson, Victoria.

Applications of E. R. Miller and Frank Walter to play with Trail this Winter were left to the executive to decide.

Considerable discussion developed over the application of Syd. Deshares, of Nelson, former member of the Vancouver Maroons, for reinstatement to amateur status. It was pointed out that there was a matter for consideration of the C.H.A., of C. which should have final decision.

Rosland applied for the senior playoffs this year, but owing to uncertainty of ice in the interior, no action was taken, the executive being given power to arrange the venue.

George Murray, of Trail, was responsible for adoption of an amendment to the constitution stipulating that in future intermediate clubs shall be enabled to play only on matters in which they are vitally interested.

The C.H.A. will be asked to place the city of Vancouver under the jurisdiction of British Columbia to enable that city to take part in Provincial playoffs, should they so desire.

Semi-Final Between Queens' and Tigers Is Next Excitement—Play One Week From Saturday

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—Week-end rugby games in Eastern Canada saw the championships of the three senior leagues decided and interest in future games has now turned from the remaining league games to the semi-finals between Queens' University, intercollegiate champions, and Hamilton Tigers, interprovincial champions, which will be played a week from next Saturday.

The Eastern final will be played on November 29 between Balm Beach, champions of the O.R.U., and the winner of the Queen's-Tiger match, and the Dominion final probably on December 6 between the Eastern champions and either Vancouver Victoria or 50th Battalion, Calgary, contenders for the Western title, should either of the latter decide to challenge for the Grey Cup.

Sportive Punches

By the "Old Un"

Wonder what those peppermint creams which they fed to the football team the other day were filled with? Seem to remember that during prohibition days there used to be quite a sale for chocolates with rum, and liqueur fillings.

Whatever it was, giving athletes bags of candy on the field of play to increase their energy is certainly a rather silly experiment and absolutely opposed to all the old ideas about training diet.

Talking of strange experiments on athletes, wonder if any modern coach has ever considered seriously the effect of various colors on athletes? The Old "Un" read somewhere a little while ago quite an interesting treatise on the effect on the human mind of various colors in the surroundings. Blue, for instance, had a depressing effect, green was soothing to the nerves, and so on.

It might be worth trying out some experiments on the local Rugby teams. There may really be something in it.

Come to think of it, we remember not a few good Rugby teams whose colors were black and yellow, and they always seemed to be real good "uns. There was a school at home which played in these colors. It had no more and no bigger boys and no better coaches and playing facilities than another school in the same place whose colors were blue and white, but the yellow and black nearly always won.

It makes one think that yellow is a good color for a Rugby team. Yellow stripes, not yellow streaks, of course we have in mind.

By the way, were not those the old NANAIMO HORNETS' colors? There always seems to be a real sting to the teams which turn out in black and yellow. We note that the BURNWOOD boys play real good football and they were sporting black and orange when we saw them play.

Without any humbug we really think there is something in this color scheme idea for footballers. One sure thing, the average VICTORIA Rugby player when he gets the chance to play in the red jerseys of the "reps" nearly always shows at his best.

Bright red used to be quite an assistance on the Rugby field under certain circumstances at the great English Universities. When the freshmen's match was played, usually with considerable more than the regulation complement of fifteen a side, many a player begged, borrowed or stole a pair of red stockings to play in for a well-understood reason. (Loretto boys, please rise and bow.)

Thinking it out, we have the idea that black must really be better than any of the colors. Certainly the successive teams of All-Blacks have achieved a record which will probably never be beaten.

Chiefly, of course, because they have played wonderful rugby. Just the same, you get fifteen great husky men, dress them in all-black and get them in the middle of the field keeping you waiting in the cold while they go through a war dance, and it's liable to have some effect on your nerves.

Any suggestion of "frightfulness" is, of course, to be deprecated, but it might be worth while trying experiments with the chromatic spectrum.

ELECTRIC TRAIN ON EXHIBIT TOUR

OVER 400,000 PEOPLE INSPECT ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVE

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Conduct Successful Exhibition Tour of Fourteen Cities

The exhibition tour of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway's giant electric locomotive, the largest in the world, has been a huge success, according to Mr. F. O. Flinn, local representative of the company, who has been sent a report of the locomotive's itinerary and its reception at the various cities at which it was exhibited.

Covering a distance of 18,223 miles the huge electric engine was exhibited at fourteen different cities, the pet of the railway lasting over two months. It has not only been exhibited at some of the cities the train had to be kept there three and even four days so that every one interested could get a glimpse at it and inspect its internal power.

Among the notable visitors to this great engine was Mr. Thomas Edison, the great inventor, in a most significant remark of his was that electricity will be the power of the future, and this is substantiated by the fact that the C.P.R. is considering the electrification of its mountain route over the Rockies.

On its tour the bi-polar gearless electric motor number 19252 was inspected by no less than 409,753 persons, all of whom voiced the unanimous opinion that it was one of the greatest sights they had ever seen.

The power of these mammoth electric engines was recently demonstrated at Tacoma when one of the world's largest steam engines held a tug-of-war contest with one of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway's electric engines. The steam engine was given a start and commenced to push the giant electric locomotive along the track. Then the engineer pulled the lever on the locomotive down a little and the electric giant held its own. The steam engine put on more steam but with increased current on the electric locomotive, the latter held its own, until the steam engine had put on all its power. The engineer on the locomotive put on full current and with the steam engine's wheels slipping around forward the electric locomotive pushed it backwards, tipping up the tracks by the great strain.

This demonstration is indication enough that these locomotives are the only type serviceable for mountain work where large freight hauls have to be handled. It can do the work of two steam engines. President H. E. Byram said when visiting Victoria recently.

Ald. Marchant, Evasive, Counters With Questions

Why Should He Run for Mayorality if the Woods Are Full of Candidates?—He Wants to Know How They Stand on Public Issues, and Mentions Some of Them, Including New Debt for Posters Plan

"The woods are full of them," said Ald. Marchant, rather vaguely, last night when asked whether he intended to become a candidate for mayorality. There were surely enough candidates entered in the race, he thought, without his worrying about the subject, and yet—

"Yet what, Mr. Alderman?"

"Well, then, tell me," he rejoined, "what on earth difference does it make to the citizens whether Dick, Tom or Harry runs the mayorality show, if they all pledge themselves to the same thing, and charge the same price for admission?"

"What I should like to know," he continued, "is not who is going to run, but what policies are going to be put forward, and whether or not they are going to be carried out. I should like to know whether any of them intend to vote again for $22,000 for tourist advertising and a beggarly $500 for industries. Personally, I feel hot in the collar over that business. I hate to use strong language, but—never mind; but I think language unbecomingly about that inquiry."

"Then the Elk Lake golf business. Why should $5,000 be spent on golf links, 8 miles from the city, whilst outlying sections of the city are calling loudly for reasonable roads, streets and sidewalks to be made, and other facilities impossible to grant on the limited appropriations for these purposes? Well—what attitude do the candidates take on that question?"

"Why should the 'rat-preserver' in Spring Ridge be only half provided for—a nuisance that has existed for 20 years—and facilities for a game preserve? At Elk Lake he granted with a wink of the eye?

How About The Willows?

"Take the Agricultural Association and the horse racing carried on there. This association holds a lease for two years on the Willows property, subject to $1 a year rental, payment of the taxes, and a proviso that the property be kept in good repair."

"This year the association permits horse racing there for two weeks on the payment of $6,000 when $20,000 should have been demanded, gives the whole of the gas receipts to the racing syndicate does not pay the taxes, amounting to nearly $3,000; requests a $5,000 grant to pay its overhead bills; and neglects the needful repairs to the buildings. What do the mayorality candidates think of this procedure?"

"For myself I need a dictionary of permissible epithets to enable me to express my views. One thing I know—I never voted for the inquiry, and I never will."

"What about reduction of taxation?"

"It is impossible to continue as we are going. It is a royal progress towards wholesale reversion of real estate. Yet when the compulsory monthly system of tax-collection could have been invoked, which would, when in full operation, have saved the city $40,000 or $45,000 annually in interest alone. It was by vote of the City Council of 1923, and consent of the private bills committee, placed on the discard heap. It is true we have a system camouflaged as a monthly system, but it does not save the city one single cent. Why should not this system have been tried out?"

To Ease Debt Paying

"Alderman Woodward, who has been unwearied in his endeavours to find methods of reducing taxation has perfected a system which, under a form of annuity, with legislative sanction, will enable the City Council of next year to levy $100,000 less than this year for the extinction of debt. But this is but a drop in the bucket. I advocated at the convention of B.C. Municipalities that the government should relieve the municipalities by taking care of education and an appeal is to be made at this session for this relief."

"You see," observed the alderman, "I should like to find out what the candidates think on this question. To knock a quarter or an off wage and salaries may seem economical and appeal to some folks, but the needs of Victoria are past the nickel stage."

"Thus," he said, "the issue is Policy or Person; Methods or Men; Retrench or Ruination; Business or Bust; Industry or Inevolution; and so on."

"But are you going to run?"

Alderman Marchant smiled whimsically.

"Now I'll tell you a story," he replied. "Two merchants of the Jewish persuasion in Chicago met for luncheon. One of them said to the other: 'Ikey, how did you get on with the fire last Tuesday?'"

"'Hush,'" said the other, holding up a warning finger and looking cautiously around. 'Hush! It's next Tuesday.'"

The Other: "Sorry, old man."

RUSSIA'S MERCHANT MARINE IS DECAYING

Depression Reigns in Shipping Circles of Transcaucasia—Ship Are Rotting at Moorings

Baku, Azerbaijan, Nov. 11.—Of all the areas in Russia which have suffered economically since the Bolshevik revolution, perhaps none has experienced such profound commercial depression as the great Caspian and Black Sea regions. Baku, Novorossiysk, Batumi, Sevastopol and Odessa, which once were among the busiest and most prosperous ports in Europe, are now mere graveyards of derelict and abandoned merchant ships. Soviet Russia is neither exporting nor importing goods in any considerable quantity, and the consequence is that her shipping trade, like most of her other industries, is paralyzed.

A Tragic Touch

In the harbor of Baku at this moment is a great forest of cargo boats, rotting at their moorings and waiting for use. A tragic touch is im-place that draws only those who have business or official relations with the Azerbaijan Government.

The stores exhibit a fair amount of stocks, but the goods are of a cheap, flimsy character and high in price. The people seem somewhat more cheerful and better dressed than those in Moscow, but they do not appear to be wholly satisfied with life under the Bolshevik regime. Here, as elsewhere in the Soviet union, there is much unemployment. The streets are overrun with half-naked and famished beggars and children. One cannot enter a restaurant, hotel or a public garden, without being assailed by starving men, women and children, who beg for black bread.

SGT. BOULTON LEADS RAID ON CHINESE

Six Inmates of Alleged Hop Joint Are Held Following Assault—Hammer Gunlaugh

Axes and sledge hammers opened a path for Sergeant Boulton and three other constables, who, into an alleged opium joint at 1804 Government Street shortly after 2 o'clock this morning.

As a result, six slightly dazed but unprotesting Chinese were lodged in the city jail last night, charged with being in a place used for the purpose of selling opium. Two heavily built doors barred the progress of the police to the set of rooms on the second story of the Government Street premises. None of the inmates were caught actually smoking the drug, for the furious onslaught of axes and sledge-hammers had given them ample warning of the coming of the police.

Smokeless Fuel in Glasgow

Those who look forward to the eventual development of some commercially satisfactory process for the production of smokeless fuel by the low-temperature carbonization of coal will be interested in a development which is about to take place in Glasgow. We are interested to learn that the Glasgow Corporation had decided to install a five-unit plant of the type developed by Messrs. MacLaurin Carbonization, Limited, to work in connection with the large generating station at Dalmeny. A single-unit MacLaurin plant, capable of carbonizing 20 tons of coal per day, was installed at the Port Dundas generating station in the corporation in 1915. This plant, with the consent of the corporation, was subsequently moved to Grangemouth, where further experiments have since been carried out on a large scale. The success of these has resulted in the decision above referred to, and the new five-unit plant will be in operation within the next few months. The idea is apparently to produce smokeless fuel for domestic purposes with gas as a by-product. The electricity department is willing to give 1.1d. per therm for this gas for boiler-firing, when coal is 20s. per ton, and it is said that when the new plant is working it will be profitable to dispose of the gas at this price. It is not stated in the report to which we refer, that any attempt is to be made to recover oil or ammonia as by-products, the main object being, apparently, the production of smokeless fuel.—Engineering

PNEUMONIC WORSE THAN OLD PLAGUE

ONE GERM RESPONSIBLE FOR BOTH, SAYS EXPERT

Chief of Manchuria Bubonic Service Declares Fever More Fatal in Latest Form

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 11.—One germ is responsible for both the bubonic and the pneumonic plagues, according to Dr. Wu Tien Teh, director in chief of the North Manchuria Plague Service, who is pursuing special research work and studies at the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health here.

Dr. Wu is said to be one of the foremost authorities on pneumonic plague, which recently has claimed many lives in Los Angeles.

In the case of bubonic plague, says Dr. Wu, the germ attacks the lymph glands. It is transmitted by fleas. When it develops in the pneumonic form, however, the germ is carried by the patient's cough and thus is spread with great rapidity, the doctor asserted. This form is more fatal than the bubonic, Dr. Wu says, the death rate approaching 100 per cent. He added that with good sanitary control and isolation of those infected, the pneumonic plague may be speedily controlled.

Dr. Wu said that in Manchuria, where he has worked for more than 12 years, the plague caused 60,000 deaths in 1919.

COURT CLEARS NAME OF MUTUAL BROKERS

Victoria Tomato Growers Held to Have Received Correct Payment—No Evidence of Deception

Dismissal of the action against the Mutual (Vancouver) Limited and Mr. George H. Snow, Vancouver, manager of the company, has been completely exonerated both the company and manager of any wrongdoing in connection with the sale of tomatoes from the Victoria Hot House Association of Growers. Commissioner Lewis Duncan, acting for the Dominion Government, failed to produce any evidence to substantiate charges of theft or conspiracy. On the face also of the report by Price Waterhouse & Company, auditors of the Mutual Company's books and duplicates of receipts, it became evident to the court that there was no grounds for any charge against the Mutual or Mr. Snow.

Auditors' Report

The report of Messrs. Price Waterhouse & Company, which has just come to hand, shows that in the 1923 season the total sales made by the Mutual (Vancouver) Limited to wholesalers and brokers of Victoria Hot House Association tomatoes, amounted to 19,243 crates through the Vancouver branch, or a total of 22,668 crates, which realized $123,189.25. Of this amount there was returned to the growers in cash the sum of $113,355.95, out of which sum the difference of $9,833.30.

assessment, and also the charge of twenty-five cents per crate on the Vancouver sales of 13,423 crates, amounting to $3,355.95, out of which sum the Mutual Company paid all freight, cartage and handling charges incidental to bringing the goods from Vancouver Island to Vancouver. The Hot House Association assessment was $326.67.

Commissions Received

The commissions received at the two offices amounted to $599.67, which provides for office expenses, selling costs, salaries, telegrams, warehouse rents, insurance and all the expenses incidental of the operation of the produce business.

The audit also shows the growers were actually overpaid the sum of $326.64.

Freight and handling charges, the Mutual Company states, takes about 15 cents out of every 25 cents commission, which actually leaves approximately 10 cents clear commission for operators.

Briefly, the auditors' report shows the following details: Amount realized for sales, $123,189.25. Paid growers in cash, $113,355.95. Mutual commission, $5,991.67. Vancouver charges, $5.00. Freight, cartage and warehouse, $355.95. Association assessment, $326.67.

Less overpaid to growers, $326.64.

Balance, $123,189.25.

You feel on your teeth a viscous film. Under ordinary brushing, much of it clings and stays. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats. That is why so many teeth are clouded.

Film also ruins teeth. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Few escape those film-caused troubles under old ways of teeth cleaning.

DOMINION Ethel Glyn, who has written a number of famous novels which have been translated to the screen, among which is "His Hour," now showing at the Dominion Theatre, has formed Mrs. Glyn Ltd. That's the new title of the famous authoress. Mrs. Glyn has incorporated herself in London to free herself from business details. The officers of the corporation are: Sir Rhyas Williams, Bart, K.C., D.R.O.; Colonel Geoffrey Glyn, D.R.O., director; Captain Wilfred Gough, late of the Welsh Guards, acting secretary in America; Geoffrey Glyn is a cousin of the authoress and Sir Rhyas is the husband of Mrs. Glyn's daughter, Lady Williams. Both Sir Rhyas and Lady Williams, and Captain Gough, were at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and assisted Mrs. Glyn in the production of "His Hour." An active office to transact the business of Glyn Ltd., is maintained at 19 Berkeley Street, London. Mrs. Glyn is the production of "His Hour," which is the story of a woman, play the leading roles in "His Hour," which King Vidor directed for Metro-Goldwyn.

PLAYHOUSE The big motor boat regatta held at San Pedro, Calif., under the auspices of the California Yacht Club, was a background for staging the big boat scenes in "The Remittance Woman." Ethel Clayton's third starring vehicle for F. B. O., now at the Playhouse Theatre, The finish of the race, with six powerful motor boats plunging through the water at a speed of fifty miles an hour, furnishes a picturesque and spectacular climax in "The Remittance Woman."

CAPITOL Frank Stanmore, who has the role of Honeybun in "Squibs' Honeymoon," which is the attraction at the Capitol Theatre today, is a mild-tempered, inoffensive little man (just like he is on the screen), very quiet in dress and with a penchant for appearing neat and trim. Time has removed Frankie's forehead and also the hair from the crown of his head, but it has left him with two queer little tufts that the producer, George Pearson, forbade him to have cut during the filming of the play, which lasted about ten weeks. Many and numerous were the jokes passed upon his appearance, and thoroughly appreciated by the victim, Hattie Wright, who plays the part of Frankie's mother. Frankie was evidently not a rolling stone, and Fred Groves (Charles Lee) capped this observation by opining that Frankie's strong love should be in "Samson and Delilah."

COLUMBIA Buck Jones, prime favorite of screen fans, millions from coast to coast, again hit the bullseye of popular favor at the Columbia Theatre last night, playing "Against All Odds"—and winning hands down, in a whirlwind finish with his faithful horse "Silver." How Buck Jones aboard "Silver," overtook and literally lassoed that fast-moving train, how he half-rising, half-falling, half-hand over hand from his horse's back to the back of the train, and how his buddy with the help of "Silver"—this you must see and thrill to with your own eyes.

SIXTY BOOTLEGGERS SAID TO OPERATE

Dr. Sipprell Tells Congregation of Reported Condition on Johnson St.—Deplores Unemployment

Mingled with his enumerated causes for bootlegging, Dr. Sipprell, pastor of Metropolitan Methodist Church, Sunday cited some regrettable features of contemporary history in Victoria, one of the most inviolable against being the industry of bootlegging.

"I have been told by an ex-alderman of this city that there are about bootlegging houses on Johnson Street. Now whether there be sixty or six such things should not be, and the law-breaking should be stopped if it is at all possible," declared the minister. The consumption of liquor was a waste. And when there were so much unemployment, so much social suffering, waste should not be tolerated.

Dr. Sipprell in his sermon dealt first with the "blessing" which he named as, first, faith and opportunity of worship; second, civil and religious liberty, the enjoyment of which should be due to all to a appreciation of the great price at which they were purchased; third, the advantage of Canadian citizenship and particularly of opportunities of life granted in this Western Canada. He had seen a great deal of the world, and he knew no place where one could so fully realize life as right here in Victoria; and, fourth, the climate and beautiful surroundings.

But lingering in his heart were two regrets: first, the serious nature of the unemployment situation, which did not seem yet to have been successfully grappled with. He thought the government or some other organization should take some measures to conserve resources so that they might be used toward the alleviation of this condition. And he furthermore deplored the fact that a call was being sent out for more people to come to British Columbia before the Province understood how to care for those who were already here. It was deplorable that so many people were having to leave the Province to make a living. The day must come when the natural resources would have to be taken out of the hands of private speculators and put into the hands of the people. Finally, how regrettable it was that $10,000 should be spent for liquor in this city alone every month.

CHURCHES UNITE FOR THANKSGIVING RITES

Denominations Join in Special Service at Reformed Episcopal Church Sunday

A united denominational Thanksgiving Day service was held at the Reformed Episcopal Church, Humboldt Street, at eleven o'clock on Sunday morning, and a congregation which nearly filled the historic edifice joined in the hymns of praise and other exercises arranged for the occasion. Rev. Dr. Sipprell, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Church and president of the Ministerial Association, had charge of the service, and others participating in the service were Rev. A. K. McMin, B.A., of Congregational Church; Rev. W. P. Freeman, of the First Baptist Church; Rev. Dr. W. L. Clay, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Rev. H. W. Hibbert, Centennial Methodist Church; and Rev. A. de B. Owen, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, and the former pastor, Rev. T. W. Gladstone.

The preacher for the morning was Mr. Hibbert, who gave an address on the subject of thanksgiving and the gratitude which all should be able to feel for blessings enjoyed during the year just past.

Rev. Dr. Clay led the prayers and Mr. Freeman gave the Scriptural readings.

Centennial Banquet
There was a very optimistic atmosphere throughout the proceedings at Centennial Methodist Church on Monday evening, the banquet in the schoolroom and subsequent programme in the main hall of the church drawing together a surprisingly large number, not only of the congregational residents of the district, but also representatives of other churches and congregations of the city.

Under the convener'ship of Mrs. W. N. Mitchell, president of the Ladies' Aid, a committee of ladies arranged a delectable repast which brought the guests together informally in the happiest way. Rev. R. W. Hibbert, the pastor, took the chair at the gathering in the church auditorium later, and expressed the satisfaction which he thought all must feel in this very gratifying evidence of a united and loyal congregation spirit, particularly in view of the existing circumstances.

Dr. Sipprell, Metropolitan Church pastor, recalled that Mr. H. G. Wells had held that because this was the worst possible world man must make the best of the position and philosophically endure what he could not alter; but he (Dr. Sipprell) maintained that there was so much to be really grateful for that one could do more than merely endure; he could enjoy. The Metropolitan Church pastor also congratulated Centennial on its successful effort to re-establish itself.

Musical Programme

The musical part of the programme was much enjoyed, those taking part being Mrs. Hobden and Miss Ethel Bridge, vocalists, and Mr. John Philen, violinist. Mrs. George Deaville gave much assistance as accompanist.

Emmanuel Baptist
At Emmanuel Baptist Church, which has been stimulated to new life by the arrival of the new pastor, Rev. Henry Knox, there was a sacred recital last evening to mark Thanksgiving Day. The programme was under the direction of the choir-master, Mr. Fred Parfitt, and comprised four or five numbers by the choir, including the great chorus, "The Heavens Are Telling" ("Creation") and "Send Out Thy Light" (Jude). The ladies of the choir sang two numbers alone, particularly beautiful being the trio from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," "Lift Thine Eyes."

Solos were given by Miss Cor, contralto, who also contributed a beautiful piano number, "Nocturne" by Chopin; by Mr. Rowley, bass, who sang "The People That Walketh in Darkness" ("Messiah"), and "The Mighty Deep" (Jude); Mr. George Green, cornetist, who played "The Holy City" and "Inflammatus"; Miss Lillian Parfitt, violinist; and Mrs. Nixon, cellist. Miss Scowcroft was at the piano for the choir numbers, and Mr. Ivor Parfitt assisted as accompanist.

First Presbyterian

A feature of the interesting and bright Thanksgiving services held at First Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, and in connection with which there was a musical programme of a very high order, was the announcement by Rev. W. G. Wilson, pastor of the church, that the appeal for $2,000 on behalf of missions (made in connection with the self-denial week) had resulted in the sum of $2,023 being collected in the assigned time.

James Bay Methodist

A social and concert Monday evening at James Bay Methodist Church drew members of the congregation together in a friendly manner. The programme was arranged by the choir-master, Mr. J. W. Busker.

According to the United States Bureau of Census there are 59,419,000 people in the country who avail themselves of electric service or are within reach of the lines of the various electric service companies.

SEEK IMPROVEMENT ON STREET SIGNS

Real Estate Board Brings Matter to Oak Bay Council's Attention—Wants Building Lines

The Oak Bay Council, at its meeting last night, received a request from the Real Estate Board of Victoria to improve the system of naming the streets in the municipality, and decided to give consideration to the proposal and see what could be done to better the present system.

The communication from the realtors' body stated that at a recent meeting of the board a resolution was passed requesting the city and adjacent municipalities to endeavor to improve the system of naming the streets. In some cases, it was pointed out to the meeting, streets were without signs indicating the names thereof, while in other cases the signs were badly placed; particularly to strangers in town this created somewhat of a difficulty in locating the street they required.

The Oak Bay Council referred the communication to the works committee, which will see what can be done to remedy the situation. The Council adopted the municipal engineer's recommendations and decided to bring in a by-law establishing the following building lines: Poul Bay Road, ten feet from east side from Brighton Avenue to Cadboro Bay Road; Cadboro Bay Road line to give an available width of 88 feet from the city boundary line to Pacific Avenue.

Mr. Francis H. Ross, 146 Eberle Street, wrote the Council expressing his thanks for its support in opposing any change in the name of Poul Bay, which name, he stated, was given by his grandfather and family previous to the year 1846.

Mr. D. H. Bale sought permission from the Council to erect a temporary garage on his property, 550 Beach Drive. The Council found that it could grant the petition, as the whole garage, when constructed, would be on the highway.

Staying Power!

ON the rugby field, in sports of any kind, the athlete prepares himself for staying power. He develops himself to the maximum of efficiency. He makes of his body a veritable storehouse of energy so that he will be "there" when he is needed.

The athlete daily eats the foods which give him the greatest amount of energy without taxing his digestive organs. So should you. Grape-Nuts is the food you should eat every day. You need the nourishment that wheat and malted barley give, the vitality and strength of phosphorus and iron, the laxative bran from the whole wheat berry.

Ask your grocer to send you Grape-Nuts for to-morrow. Four teaspoonsful with cream or milk are sufficient for each serving. Add sugar if you wish. You'll feel a new tingling through your veins—a new feeling of strength and vigour that will carry you through each day always at your best.

C.P.R. and U.S. Lines May Leave Conference

Admiral Oriental, Canadian Pacific and Pacific Mail May Quit Trans-Pacific Conference if Japanese Companies Do Not Suspend Advance of Bills of Lading—Is Vital Question Before Conference—Silk Merchants Support Usage of Long Existing System

THE Admiral Oriental Line, Canadian Pacific and Pacific Mail have jointly notified the Japanese steamship companies, which are parties to the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference, of their definite intention to withdraw from the conference unless the Japanese firms suspend the advance of the bills of lading prior to the sailing of ships, it was learned here yesterday.

The Japanese firms, including the Nippon Yusen, Kaisha, Osaka Shosen Kaisha, Toyo Kisen Kaisha, Mitsui Bishi Kaisha and Yamashita Kisen Kaisha, which are interested in the conference, will hold a meeting with their representatives shortly in Kobe, it was learned in advance here, and decide their attitude to the notice filed by the foreign firms.

For many years past the Japanese firms have issued bills of lading to shippers concerned before the ship sailed. This custom has been a convenience to the shippers, but the Japanese firms are able to enter into transactions with banks with the bills prior to the ship sailing. The bills of lading sometimes are issued after the cargo has been shipped, but the shippers may lose an opportunity to make money if the bills are issued after the ship sails.

This commercial usage has proved unsatisfactory to the interests of foreign shipping firms and protests have been raised frequently against its operation.

The tendency to adhere to this usage, it is reported, has increased especially since the September earthquake, and foreign firms are said to have incurred no little damage through its operation. Great difficulty is expected to attend the solution of this problem. The custom in Japan and China has been observed for years past because the majority of shippers, chiefly raw silk merchants, support it.

The Canadian Pacific, Admiral Oriental and Pacific Mail lines are adamant in their attitude in this matter, because they investigated thoroughly before notifying the Japanese firms of their resolution. If their proposal is rejected, they may quit the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference, in which they are influential figures and this is likely to lead to the spontaneous dissolution of the conference, some members declare.

This problem is one of the most serious questions confronting the Japanese ship interests and its solution is being watched keenly not only by Japanese shipping interests but by local shippers.

LOCH GOIL DUE HERE SATURDAY

Is Bringing Comprehensive Cargo of Christmas Toys and Liquor for Discharge at Victoria

IS BIGGEST SHIPMENT FROM U.K. THIS YEAR

Will Mark the First Arrival of R.M.S. Liner at Victoria for Month—May Mean Regular Calls Here

WITH the largest shipment of Christmas toys and goods that will arrive here this year direct from the United Kingdom, the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's freighter Loch Goil is reported due here on Saturday by Findlay, Durham & Brodie, the local representatives.

Advices received by them last night were that the Loch Goil had arrived in San Francisco on Tuesday and as soon as she finished discharging would proceed to Victoria, with one of the biggest cargoes that has been brought from the United Kingdom this year. There is an unusually large consignment of liquor on board for the Liquor Control Board, while the shipment of Christmas toys is the largest to arrive this season, and will probably be the last shipment of the kind, with the exception of small consignments later in the month, that will arrive before the Christmas holiday season. Toy trains, confectionery sets, dolls, doll houses, some on the model of Queen Victoria's famous doll house, footballs, and in short, one of the most comprehensive shipments of toys is stowed away beneath the ship's hatches.

SEEK TO PROTECT SURFACE OF ROADS

Department of Public Works Preparing Regulations Governing Operation of Trucks

With a view to protecting the surface of roads, the Provincial Department of Public Works is preparing a set of regulations governing the operation of trucks and other motor vehicles in British Columbia. The rules will prescribe the size of trucks, which may be operated, their weight, width of tires, and other details of their construction which might affect road surfaces.

Municipalities are at liberty to accept or reject the new regulations but it is anticipated that they will meet with general approval, as all cities and organized districts are as anxious as the Government to protect their roads from excessive heavy traffic.

The new regulations also are desired by the operators of trucks who recently asked the Public Works Department to inaugurate traffic rules of general application all over the Province. At present, the truck owners complain, conflicting regulations are in effect in adjoining municipalities.

LICK OBSERVERS LOCATE RECENTLY REPORTED COMET

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 11.—The new comet, first reported about two weeks ago by the Heidelberg Observatory, has been sighted by Lick Observatory of the University of California, officials announced today.

Last night was exceptionally clear, and the astronomers got a good view of the unnamed new comet. Its location was placed at between Mars and Jupiter, and a remarkable feature noted was that it orbited some 100 million miles from the sun.

November Is Dull Month For Local Lumber Mills

Closed Season on Atlantic Seaboard and Similar Condition in Australia Result in Very Few Orders Being Placed—C. P. S. Only Mill With Order From Atlantic Coast, While Moore & Whittington Have Small Parcel for Australian Ports

ONE of the dull months this year is being experienced by local lumber mills which are unable to report over 2,000,000 feet of lumber for export. A closed season on the Atlantic seaboard and between season in Australia is the cause of the slump in orders. "No one knows when the Japan market will come back, and there is very little hope for a brisk market until the end of December," he stated.

One million two hundred thousand feet of lumber is the total lumber export figure for this month so far. Other orders may possibly come in toward the end of the month, but in any event these will probably be shipped out during the winter.

At present the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company is shipping 125,000 feet of lumber on the N.Y.K. freighter Toyama Maru, and are busy cutting 550,000 feet of lumber for the Canadian Transier, which will load here for Australia. Moore & Whittington also reported 125,000 feet of lumber for the Australian market.

The only order from the Atlantic seaboard so far this month has been received by the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, which will commence cutting soon on a 600,000 foot order. Mr. Johnston, of the C.P.S.

Lumber Company, says that it is a closed season in the East, and little can be expected from this market until after December.

The Lemon Gonsaen Lumber Company is continuing to ship out its regular supply of doors to Australia. This month it has received orders for a parcel of 1,400 doors. This is better than was expected, as the Australian market is very quiet at present and there is a lull in the building trade of that continent. Much, however, can be expected from this country at the beginning of next year.

It is hoped by local lumbermen that the Japan market will pick up next April when the reconstruction of Tokyo's waterfront is commenced and the permanent building construction goes into stride. The Tokyo Municipality is taking over the construction of the waterfront and some action is expected next April as soon as the first loan has been floated.

Little can be expected from Yokohama until another year has passed, as permanent construction permits have not yet been issued for that port, and all the temporary buildings that are needed have been built from the relief lumber and that on hand at the Tokyo assembly plant. Until the weather-stained lumber has been disposed of no demand can be expected.

TELLS OF SLEEPING SICKNESS SCOURGE

OVER 1,000 DEAD IN JAPAN, SAYS RETURNING PHYSICIAN

Dr. Cecil Bennett, of Woonung, Queensland, Says Chinese Doctors Handicapped in Their Work

With the Government quarantine at Woonung, as health medical officer since 1912, Dr. Cecil Bennett passed through Victoria aboard the Empress of Asia en route to the Old Country on leave for one year.

"The Chinese are hard to divert from their old remedies, which are of little or no value to them," said Dr. Bennett. "As a result, the Chinese doctors, who themselves are very efficient men, have to mix their prescriptions with the old Chinese medicines, with the result that very little good is done."

Speaking of the sleeping sickness in Japan, Dr. Bennett said that it is not yet spread to China. "It seems prevalent only in the earthquake stricken districts, but, however, it is very contagious and precautions have had to be taken to prevent its spreading to the unaffected districts. Over 1,000 people have died of the disease in the last month."

Dr. Bennett said that this disease is very prevalent in the Philippines, down to the very poor sanitary conditions prevalent in Tokyo and Yokohama following the earthquake of a year ago.

CAPTAIN J. W. TROUP RETURNING TO COAST

Mr. D. C. Coleman, Vice-President of C.P.R., to Visit Victoria Shortly to See Attorney-General

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11.—Mr. D. C. Coleman, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway Western lines, returned to Vancouver this morning from Seattle, where he went in connection with waterfront matters pertaining to the company.

Mr. Coleman stated that Captain Troup, manager of B.C. Coast Service, had sailed for Canada on the Empress of Scotland, and will report progress of the new ships when he reaches this country. Cable advices stated, Mr. Coleman said, that the work was progressing satisfactorily, and that the Princess Kathleen would be handed over to the company on the first of December, and indications are that the new ships will be a credit to the builders, owners and the service. The vice-president will leave for Victoria, and while there will visit the Attorney-General for further information in regard to the Farron train disaster, and advise the company's position to supplement the efforts of the Department.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Threats of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right relief of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 3 1/2 ounces of Pinet from any drugstore, pour it into 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and cough disappear.

Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma. Physicians of the great and long-remembered compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for the healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid counterfeit by asking your druggist for "3 1/2 ounces of Pinet" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give reliable satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinet Co., Toronto, Ont.

TUG CZAR RECOVERS LOST DAVIS RAFT

TOWED INTO HARDY BAY AND SAFELY ANCHORED

Second Boom Believed to Have Gone to Pieces and Constituted Menace to Navigation

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11.—One of the two Davis rafts reported adrift off the Pacific Coast has been recovered by the tugboat Czar, Captain Robert Armstrong, and towed into Hardy Bay, according to information received tonight by Greer & Christie, owners of the tug. This raft was lost Monday morning off Point Allen, Queen Charlotte Sound, during a heavy north-westerly gale, but was picked up later in the day by the tugboat and towed to safety.

Another Davis raft was lost the same day from the tugboat, Cape Scott, owned by Johnson, Walton & Company. Wireless reports from the Union Steamship Company's steamer Camouan told of the breaking up of this raft, one and a half miles west of Cape Caution. This raft, it is feared, has been totally lost and may offer a serious menace to British Columbia shipping.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 11.—Bad weather in Queen Charlotte Sound has caused, it is feared, the loss of two Davis rafts that were crossing overnight.

The Vancouver tugboat Cape Scott, owned by the Heate Strait Towing Company, is standing by her tow, a Davis raft, which is breaking up in a very bitter gale. The ship was south-bound from Swanton Bay to Seattle with 800,000 feet of logs in the raft. She was making time in a terrific gale when at 5 a.m. the side sticks of the raft started and the tow began to break up.

The second raft is believed breaking up two miles south of Pines Island, according to a report from Bull Harbor wireless station.

It is thought this tow may be that of the tugboat Czar, though her owners do not think she is that far south. On Sunday she was off Idol Island at noon.
